JIM BUCK ROSS
COMMISSIONER

TO THE PEOPLE OF THE STATE OF MISSISSIPPI

This bulletin contains the historic data for 1986. As you recall, 1986 was not a particularly good year for agricultural interests in Mississippi. As this letter is being written we are in the midst of the 1987 harvest season. We have prospects for good yields of quality cotton with greatly improved prices. Yield prospects for other crops are also quite good. The broiler industry has had a good year, and cattlemen are making money.

As I mentioned in my letter in last year's bulletin, there were some bright spots (low inflation, a weak dollar, and falling interest rates) that indicated an improved economic climate for agriculture in the future. What a difference a year makes. The economic climate for agriculture has improved and Mississippi's prospects are brighter, I am happy to report.

This bulletin is provided to you in fulfillment of one of many responsibilities of your Department of Agriculture and Commerce. Part of these responsibilities are dischared through the efforts of the Mississippi Agricultural Statistics Service (MASS). The reports issued by MASS throughout the year are consolidated in this publication.

Respectfully,

Jim Buck Ross
